

The Alan M. Voorhees Transportation Center presents

Transforming Transportation

Anne P. Canby Surface Transportation Policy Project

March 29, 2005, 5:00 P.M.
Special Events Forum, Civic Square Building

Anne P. Canby

Anne P. Canby is the president of the Surface Transportation Policy Project (STPP), a diverse, nationwide coalition working to ensure safer communities and smarter transportation choices that enhance the economy, improve public health, promote social equity, and protect the environment. STPP believes sound transportation investments are more than just providing mobility, but rather are the backbone of the American economy and social fabric.

Prior to joining STPP, Ms. Canby served as Secretary of the Delaware Department of Transportation; Deputy Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Department of Transportation; Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Transportation; and Treasurer of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

Please RSVP by March 25 via phone, 732/932-6812, ext. 472; or email, vtc@policy.rutgers.edu.

The Alan M. Voorhees Transportation Center

The Voorhees Transportation Center is a national leader in the research and development of innovative transportation policy. The center houses the National Transit Institute, which designs and delivers training and education programs for the nation's transit industry.

Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy

The Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy focuses Rutgers' educational and research programs that have established national and international reputations for excellence in urban planning, urban studies, public health, and public policy.